

PROMINENT IN SESSION WORK

Janesville Furnishes Whitehead And Norcross
To The State Legislature.

BOTH ARE CONSIDERED STRONG

Whitehead's Plan For Making The Session Accomplish
More By Concentrating The Work Will Probably Be Effective.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Jan. 28.—Janesville is represented in the legislature by two of the most influential and able members of the law-making body—Senator John M. Whitehead and Captain Pliny Norcross. Both are legislators of large experience, broad knowledge and sound and mature judgment. Senator Whitehead is serving the last of six successive sessions, completing his third term of four years, each. Perhaps "last" is not the word, either, for, judging from the high esteem in which the ability of Senator Whitehead is held by his fellow legislators, it would be the part of wisdom for Rock county to keep this able man in the senate as long as he will consent to perform this arduous and thankless labor, or until the people of the state shall call him to higher official service. Senator Whitehead is the senior member of the upper branch of the legislature, except for Senator Stout of Menomonie, who is serving in his seventh successive session. The most important committees of the senate have the assistance of the Rock-county member—the committees on judiciary, taxation, capital, rules and apportionment. It was desired earnestly by the caucus committee that made up the committees of the senate that Senator Whitehead should be chairman of the committee on judiciary or taxation; he declined, in order to be able to devote time to a larger variety of work. Associated with Senator Whitehead on the judiciary committee are Senators Sanborn (chairman), Reh, Morris, Browne, Fairchild and Brazeau. Senator Wilcox is chairman of the committee on taxation and the other members are Senators Whitehead, Bird, Wolf, Marsh, Huston and Smith. Inasmuch as the new Wisconsin capital will doubtless cost not less than $5,000,000 before it is completed, that committee is an important one. Senator Whitehead is chairman and will be assisted by Senators Stout and Lockney. The most difficult work of the session during the past three weeks has been the revision of the rules, the methods according to which the new laws are to be made. On account of the fact that the old rules had not been revised for about ten years and the legislative situation had developed and greatly changed since then, it was found necessary to provide new rules this time. Senator Stout was made chairman of this committee, but was sick most of the time and the work fell upon Senator Whitehead, who received some assistance from Senator Fairchild. It is well known here that the new rules as revised in large part by Senator Whitehead, will result in large economy to the state, by cutting out from legislation pages and pages of useless provisions, by systematizing the legislative result, by systematizing the work of committees and shortening the session, and in other ways. The new rules have not been seriously attacked but some new members of the assembly thought that they ought to make their own rules and not be influenced by the senate. However, Senator Whitehead will doubtless be successful in having the rules of the two branches quite uniform so that the legislative processes of both houses will be the same and confusion will be avoided.

After each census the state is reappointed into senatorial and assembly districts, and it falls to the present legislature to perform this difficult and important task. Senator Whitehead is chairman of this committee and will have as colleagues on the senate side, Senators Munson, Roehr, Sanborn and Smith. Senator Whitehead desires that this work be accomplished with as much expedition as is consistent with the best results, and it is hoped that the task will be completed during the coming four weeks.

Captain Norcross is serving his second successive session in the assembly, but back some 30 years ago, when some of the present members were kindergarten tots, he came up from Janesville to sit in the lower house of the legislature. The tales he sometimes tells of those old days are going around the legislature as some of the most interesting reminiscences that find recollection. While he came here as the result of a stalwart victory, he has never worn a factional label, nor has he ever been unfaithful to the principles he was sent to represent. He is looked upon as conservative, but none the less backward in favoring good causes. While Captain Norcross is not by any means known as an adherent or follower of Speaker Eklund, the Janesville member was favored with important committee assignments. He was placed on the judiciary committee, the most important of the assembly, and was given the chairmanship of the important committee on roads and bridges. This committee is of particular importance in view of the likelihood of large appropriations for the purpose of making scientific experiments in road building.

Two other members of the assembly come from Rock county—A. S. Baker of Evansville, representing the first district, and Simon Smith of Beloit, representing the third district. Mr. Baker was here two years ago. He is chairman of the assembly delegation on the joint committee on capital and is a member of the committee on lumber and mining. Mr. Smith is here this year for the first time, coming as the successor of Mr. Hanson, who represented the Beloit district two years ago. He is a member of the important committee on manufactures and labor and also of the less important committee on military affairs.

MAIL ORDER HOUSE HEARING RESUMED

As a consequence the decision in the present case is awaited with much interest.

SOLDIERS' MURDER CASE UP AT LAST

Civil Courts Finally Begin Trial of Army Men—Long Squabble with Military Authorities.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 28.—Following a conflict of two and a half years between the civil and military authorities, Lieutenant Ralph H. Drury, U. S. A., and Private John Dowd, were arraigned to-day to stand trial for the killing of William H. Crowley. In September, 1904, Crowley was detected in the act of stealing some copper at the Allegheny arsenal. He was pursued by the soldiers and was shot and killed after he had got outside the arsenal grounds. The civil authorities claimed that the case came under their jurisdiction and that the two accused soldiers should be tried in the civil courts. The War department, however, denied the right of the civil authorities to interfere in the matter. The question has been argued in the courts here on several different occasions and the final result is that the contention of the civil authorities was upheld. Owing to the long delay in bringing the case to the three important witnesses are dead and several are missing.

RIPS THE LID OFF THE STANDARD OIL COMPANY IN ITS REPORTS TODAY

Interstate Commerce Commission Gives Report Of Its Findings To Congress This Morning.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, D. C., Jan. 28.—The Interstate Commerce Commission sent to congress a report of the investigation made by it under the Tillman-Gillespie resolution approved March 7th last concerning the relations of common carriers by rail to the production and distribution of oil. The report covers the distribution of petroleum and its products east of the Mississippi river, and incidentally, the Kansas and Texas fields. The report points out generally the methods by which the Standard Oil Co. "has built up and perpetuated its monopoly and the relations of transportation agencies to that monopoly." It is asserted that "the ruin of its competitors has been a distinct part of the policy of the Standard Oil Co. in the past, systematically and persistently pursued." Considerable of the ground covered has been gone into fully in the report on oil and its distribution, made public by the bureau of corporations. "No instance," the report says, "is found where any railway company has been interested in oil lands or in petroleum production, and only one instance is shown where officials of a railway company were interested in the production and sale of oil. This relates to certain officials of the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern railroad having owned stock of the Argand Refining company, which was on their recommendation afterwards sold to the Standard Oil Co. and the lubricating contract which the road transferred to the Galena Oil Co., a Standard company."

"The Standard Oil Co. largely monopolizes the handling of petroleum from the mouth of the well until it is sold to the retailer, and sometimes to the consumer, and under ordinary circumstances its margin of profit is very large. Estimates made in the report show a profit on refined oil from the Sugar Creek refinery at Kansas City of from five to eight cents per gallon. A much higher profit is indicated for gasoline. The sale of refined oil from the large Standard refinery at Whiting, is correspondingly profitable."

"The evidence shows little basis for the contention that the enormous dividends of the Standard Oil company are the legitimate result of its economics. Except for its pipe lines, the Standard has but little legitimate advantage over the independent refiner. The Standard buys advertising space in many newspapers which it fills, not with advertisements, but with relates to certain officials of the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern railroad having owned stock of the Argand Refining company, which was on their recommendation afterwards sold to the Standard Oil Co. and the lubricating contract which the road transferred to the Galena Oil Co., a Standard company."

THE JUSTICE OF TITHING TODAY

DISCUSSED IN SERMON BY REV.
J. H. TIPPETT.

GRADUATED INCOME GIVING

If Poor Man Should Offer One-tenth
 Rich Man is Duty Bound to Consecrate More.

At the Methodist Episcopal church
 yesterday morning Rev. J. H. Tippett preached on "The Consecration of Wealth," discussing the old Hebrew
 system of tithing and the justice of such a law applied today. The text of the sermon was Proverbs 11: 1, 2:
 "Honor the Lord with thy substance,
 and with the first fruits of all thine
 increase. So shall thy barns be filled with plenty and thy presses shall burst out with new wine." Mr. Tip-pett sighted other portions of scripture
 with similar meanings and concluded
 that when the portion due the poor
 and due God's cause was disposed of the rest is sanctified; when it is withheld, God's curse is upon the whole.
 In part he said: The beginning of all
 true religion is the honoring of God.
 We must honor him with our professions and with our substance. In this age so full of religious profession and
 so lacking in religious earnestness,
 and Christian principles the warning of St. Paul to the Galatian churches
 regarding the sowing and reaping, is very applicable. Many people make no conscience of accounting to God for His gifts, though it is He that giveth
 the power to get wealth. This would be bad enough in those who live lives
 of utter worldliness and impleity, but I am now speaking of those who are to be found in churches from Sunday
 to Sunday. Every attendance at divine services is a profession, increasing our responsibility to God and that responsibility includes the worldly wealth.

Rich, Not Poor, Rebel.
 In giving as in living God must be first. It is not our superfluity, but a portion of our first increase that is due
 the Lord. If every Christian felt his responsibility no collections would be necessary but we do not live up to the belief that God's portion should be
 first—that all really belongs to God.
 The right spirit exists in the old Hebrew rule of tithing—the giving of the first tenth no matter what might happen to the other nine-tenths. But then comes the suggestion that this system is not adopted to our modern
 and complex age; that it is very difficult for men to determine their net
 income, after paying legitimate expenses to secure the income. However, a moment's thought will suffice
 to show that the objection is not against tithing but against proportional giving and in the meantime the church treasures are left empty in the face of the greatest opportunity of the ages. The lack of system in giving has been just as fatal to church finances
 as the lack of system in business has been fatal to the owners. A more serious objection is presented in the interest of the poor. The answer is fourfold: first, the law of necessity upon the part of the poor man and of mercy upon the part of the church
 may well absolve some persons from tithing; second, if the poor give ten per cent, many a rich man is called to give more than ten per cent; third, the submerged tenth in any church never remains submerged; it usually rises to be the wealthier class and the church
 can well afford to wait; fourth, the poor never rebel against tithing; it is
 the rich who refuse shielding them-

Catarrh of the Stomach

A Pleasant, Simple, But Safe and Effectual Cure for It.

COSTS NOTHING TO TRY.

Catarrh of the stomach has long been considered the next thing to incurable. The usual symptoms are a full or bloating sensation after eating, accompanied sometimes with sour
 or watery risings, a formation of gases, causing pressure on the heart
 and lungs and difficult breathing,
 headaches, sickle appetite, nervousness
 and a general played out, languid feeling.

There is often a foul taste in the mouth, coated tongue and if the interior of the stomach could be seen
 it would show a slimy, inflamed condition.

The cure for this common and obstinate trouble is found in a treatment
 which causes the food to be readily,
 thoroughly digested before it has time
 to ferment and irritate the delicate mucous surfaces of the stomach. To secure a prompt and healthy digestion is the one necessary thing to do
 and when normal digestion is secured
 the catarrhal condition will have disappeared.

According to Dr. Harlanston, the safe-
 est and best treatment is to use after each meal a tablet, composed of Dias-
 tase, Aseptic Pepsin, a little Nux, Golden Seal and fruit acids. These tablets
 can now be found at all drug stores
 under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and not being a patent medicine can be used with perfect safety
 and assurance that healthy appetite
 and thorough digestion will follow
 their regular use after meals.

Mr. R. S. Workman, Chicago, Ill.,
 writes: "Catarrh is a local condition
 resulting from a neglected cold in the head, whereby the lining membrane of the nose becomes inflamed and the polluted discharges therefrom passing backward into the throat reaches the stomach, thus producing catarrh of the stomach. Medical authorities prescribe for me for three years for catarrh of stomach without cure, but today I am the happiest of men after using
 only one box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I cannot find appropriate words to express my good feeling. I have found flesh, appetite and sound
 rest from their use."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest preparation as well as the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, Catarrh of stomach, biliousness, sour stomach,
 heartburn and bloating after meals.

selves behind a plea for the poor.
 System in Giving.

I believe the struggle to bring our church up to giving even so large a proportion as one-tenth is not so difficult and that the end is not so far removed as our fears may indicate. At present five per cent of the total income of members is given and if all
 able members could be induced to consider systematically the tithe would be given for the many who give more than ten per cent would balance those unable to give that portion. Our giving has been spasmodic and according to our impulses, generally repudiating
 the claim of God and the church upon any fixed per cent of our income. Financial failures are due to carelessness
 and laziness, greed and speculation or inattention to business and extravagance. The adoption of a system of self-denial, the conscientiousness which leads to tithing will keep
 men from speculating and cheating.
 Any number of testimonials from systematic givers could be furnished and
 each one relates the benefits derived.
 And the "Hebrew old-clothes philosophy" of bringing the whole tenth into
 the granary, giving all to one church,
 not distributing the amount according
 to notion or caprice, has been proven
 the only successful method. The tithe books show that last year out of 779
 members and probationers only 172
 were tithing; and of these 12 were children, 105 women and 55 men. It is interesting to note that the average
 income of every man, woman and child in the United States is estimated at $200; the average tithe therefor
 would be $20. The treasurer's books
 show that the average amount paid
 by each either was $31.29. If all the 799 members had been tithing at the same rate the total income would have been $24,062. The amount would be enough to take care of all the needy
 poor of our city, and to keep an army
 of 180 Bible readers in the field in

SEARCHING FOR HIS DAUGHTER IN CITY

Chicago Man Comes to Janesville in Search of Missing Daughter and His Divorced Wife.

Domestic tragedy in everyday life
 was enacted recently when William Harris of Chicago came to Janesville
 in search of his divorced wife and a missing daughter. The woman and the young girl had been here, registered at the Myers Hotel, but had departed several days previous to the father's arrival. Mr. Harris alleges a serious charge against his wife's
 treatment of the daughter and stated that he would follow them to the end
 of the world to rescue the girl.
 A lady, giving her name as
 Mrs. Harris and daughter of Chicago,
 registered at the Myers Hotel
 some days ago. After making arrangements for two rooms at a weekly rate Mrs. Harris informed the management she had friends here and had come on business. One caller is known to have left his card for Miss Harris and numerous letters were received, one of which enclosed an express order. During their stay at the hotel they staid closely in their rooms,
 doing considerable shopping and were
 apparently well supplied with money.
 It was shortly after their departure
 that Mr. Harris appeared and made his startling charge against the purpose of his divorced wife in taking his daughter with her. Nothing further has been heard of them.

MID WINTER FLOODS CAUSE A HEAVY LOSS

Hayes Bros., Janesville Contractors,
 Will Lose Heavily on Work at Lockport.

Owing to the breaking of a protecting levee at the work of the new power house at Lockport, Hayes Bros.,
 who have charge of the construction
 of the new building, will lose in the neighborhood of twenty thousand dollars. The heavy rains of last week
 so flooded the drainage canal that
 the protecting levee broke completely,
 submerging costly machinery and
 causing a panic among the workmen,
 many of whom had to swim to save
 their lives, the waters rising fifteen feet in twenty minutes. Two hundred and fifty men have been employed on the work. It is probable the Sanitary board will be held responsible for the damage accruing although the flood will seriously delay
 the building.

FOURTH WARD POLO TEAM WAS VICTOR

Won Ice Game From Second Ward
 Team—Will Play Fifth Ward
 Next Sunday.

Much to the surprise of the undefeated Second Warders the Fourth Ward ice polo team, heralded as the "Monterey Juniors," was victorious in the contest between the two fives
 played in Monterey yesterday afternoon. Through the first two fifteen minutes thirds neither side was able to score and for ten minutes in the last third both teams worked hard for a tally. After several unsuccessful attempts at a score Carroll finally negotiated the lone tally of the game.
 Both teams played clean polo. The line-up follows:

 will play a Fifth Ward combination.

LARGEST AUDIENCE OF PRESENT SEASON

Greeted "The Time, the Place and the Girl" at Myers Theatre Saturday Evening.

There was standing room only and
 precious little of that for the Askin-Singer production of the musical comedy, "The Time, the Place and the Girl," at the Myers theatre Saturday evening. Every available seat from the roof to the orchestra pit was occupied. So much for the magic of a long Chicago run affording, as it does, ample time for song hits to reach the most remote piano-racks. For Joe Howard composed the music.

In spite of the thrills Deagon's crisp
 slang epigrams and the "Don't Like
 Your Family" and "Thursday's My Jonah Day" songs, the piece drags a trifle, until the middle of the second act when the chorus and the ten broilers suddenly come to life and execute two novel and clever song and dance specialties. The spirited "Dixie, I Love You" interpolation, with the tambourines and "bones" proves the ten shapely dancers to be trained to
 the minute and the audience demands recall after recall. By this time
 the plot, also, has sufficiently "thickened" to be interesting and the onlooker would joyfully pay a horse-
 ship on "the dictator" who, after cheerfully unloading the possible consequences of a crime on his friend, has undertaken to break the rebellious spirit of the girl who has repulsed him by forcing her, with the threat of starvation as a club, to mop the doormat.
 This "Cunningham" never does anything unselfish or chivalrous to deserve any reward and one is disposed to be out of patience with "Happy
 John" for assisting him to get it.

Arthur Deagon last appeared here
 in the name part of DeKoven and Smith's comic opera, "The Highway-
 man" seven years ago. He is genuine and jolly and his infectious good humor soon overcomes all prejudices
 against his vocation in the play. Miss Lucia Moore is very pleasing as "Molly
 Kelly," the nurse, and Violet Mc-Millen as "The Girl," for whom the time and place were arranged through
 the intervention of a threatened small-pox epidemic at a sort of Keeler curing in the mountains, is also chic and interesting. Ida Emerson who plays the part of "Mrs. Talcott," is the former wife of Joe Howard.

The biggest song hit Saturday
 evening was the duet, "Don't You Tell,"
 by Miss McMillen and Mr. Deagon,
 and the latter's love scene with Miss Moore was the point of highest "heart
 interest." That incident of "Pedro,"
 the organ-grinder—gentleman for a day—is a too palpable effort to obtain contrast by the injection of a dash
 of pathos. The song "Blow the Smoke Away" has the same melody as Joe Howard's "What's the Use of Dreaming" in "The Setting Leader." Its sentiment and setting lack the appeal
 of the last named and Arthur Hull
 doesn't possess the voice to sing it properly. Seriously, a sample of applause greeted his rendition and this
 failure to "catch on" seriously handicapped the play for a whole act. Costumes and scenic effects were excellent. The company left yesterday morning for Appleton.

OFFICIAL REPORT ON TOBACCO PRICES

Thirty-five Per Cent More Being Paid
 This Year Than Last for Wisconsin Crop.

The Department of Agriculture has issued a report on the 1906 tobacco
 crop of the United States, showing
 the average price per pound obtained
 in the various districts and the per cent of the crop marketed up to December 30, 1906. The average price for Wisconsin leaf is 13.5 cents and
 the per cent marketed was twelve.
 The price is an increase of thirty-
 five per cent over that paid for the 1905 crop and the department's review says: "This is one of the finest crops ever produced in Wisconsin, with less damage from hail or storms in the field than usual, cured
 remarkably free from pole sweat or stem rot, and will yield a larger per cent of wrappers and binders than last year."

 one the High School basketball team

 half resulted in the score favoring the Whitewater players, 17 to 12,
 but the Janesville team made a rally
 and won out against odds in the second half.

SUTHERLAND TALKS ON DISEASED MILK

Local Physician Belonging to State
 Board of Health Recently Visited Genoa Junction.

Since the scarlet fever epidemic at Evanson, Ill., has been found to be the result of infected milk shipped
 into that suburb of Chicago from Genoa Junction, Bassetts station and other points at which the Borden Milk
 company has bottling stations the Wisconsin and Illinois state boards of health have joined forces to stamp
 out the dread disease. Dr. Q. O. Sutherland of this city, being the member of the badger board residing nearest Genoa Junction, went thither a week
 ago. When interviewed this morning
 he said that he found it would take a week to thoroughly inspect the field
 and so resorted to the affidavit plan.
 Swoon statements to the effect that
 no scarlet fever or any contagious disease existed in the milk either at the
 farms or in the bottling works and the Borden company and the hundred
 twenty-five dairy farmers who supply
 the station with milk, the latter having come to Genoa Junction at the telephonic request of Dr. Sutherland.
 Since then an inspector engaged by the Borden people and Dr. E. F. Baker of Jacksonville, Ill., representing the Illinois Board of health, have made a canvass of the district. They discovered many persons to be suffering with a light form of scarlet fever. In fact it was so light that not one had sought medical treatment, believing
 the infection to be simply a non-contagious skin disease. Of course persons recovering from scarlet fever
 "peel" and infected pieces of skin
 have fallen into the milk either at the
 farms or in the bottling works and the
 Chicago epidemic has resulted. Dr.
 Baker declared yesterday that there were thirty-five cases in Genoa that should be quarantined and fifteen at Bassetts Station. He requested Dr.
 Q. O. Sutherland to take up the work
 but as he cannot leave his practice
 here, Dr. Fred Sutherland, being ill
 and Dr. Charles Sutherland being out of the city, the work has fallen onto
 the shoulders of Dr. C. A. Harper of Madison, secretary of the Wisconsin
 health board.

Had Not Learned It Yet.

A bank official, who has many amusing stories at his tongue's end, tells of a stolid German woman who went into the bank one morning to deposit a fat
 roll of bills, and open an account.

She was asked to sign her name in the book reserved for the signatures
 of depositors, and began to do so with
 many twistings of her face and pauses
 after the painful completion of each letter.

Suddenly she stopped, and after a period of dismayed reflection looked appealingly at the benevolent young man on the other side of the broad writing shelf.

"I, haf Katrina done," she said,
 pointing to her work with the pen;
 "but my second name, I don't plevie I can write him. I don't penvie married to dis man long already—only long as yesterday."—Youth's Companion.

Pointed Query.

The late Thomas Flately of Boston, the well known Irish lawyer and
 wit, was acting for the defense in a divorce case, and during the cross-examination of the plaintiff asked the following questions:

"You wish to divorce this woman
 because she drinks?"

"Yes, sir."

"Do you drink yourself?"

"That's my business," said the wit ness, angrily.

Whereupon the lawyer, with face
 unmoved, asked one more question:

"Have you any other business?"

Evil Influence of Birthdays.

Birthdays convey a suggestion of evil. What good suggestions do they convey? Suppose you did not know how old you were, would your usefulness in any way be impaired? Would any possible harm result? Suppose birthdays were abolished, what would be the result? The average use of the human race would increase by leaps
 and bounds. Birthdays are responsible for the psychic dead line of three-
 score and ten which is more deadly
 than a machine gun.—Suggestion.

Great Men's Signatures Alike.

"From my pile of autographs I take one of a statesman, well known, and
 lay it side by side with the autographs
 of a great author and a great ecclesiastic," writes a British publicist. "All
 three are very small, exquisitely neat,
 very little slanted, absolutely legible.
 Well as I knew the three writers, I doubt if I could tell which wrote
 which. They were Cardinal Manning, Mr. Froide and Lord Rosebery." Will
 the experts tell me if, in this case,
 similarity of writing bodied forth similarity of gifts or qualities?"

Long Sleep Brought Death.

There is a record in medical works
 of a man near Rochester, N. Y., who slept five years, never waking, more than 160 hours at a time, and that only
 at intervals of six weeks, or more.
 When seized by the trance he weighed 160 pounds, and he dwindled to 90 pounds. No treatment availed; he died.

An Animal Story For Little Folks
THE PIGS AND THE BUTTERMILK

There was once an old pig who had five young ones. Every day she went to the farmer's to get a jug of buttermilk, and she told her children to bar the door and keep it barred while she was gone.

"When I come back I'll pour a little of the buttermilk under the door edge."

One day when the old pig was gone, as usual, a wolf came to the door. "Let me in, children," he whined in as close an imitation of the old pig's voice as he could manage.

"No, indeed. You're not our mother. We have a sign that we know our mother by," answered the oldest pig.

"Well, tell me what that sign is," coaxed the wolf.

"Indeed, and we'll not tell you," said the second pig.

Just then the old pig came up with her jug of buttermilk, and the wolf, now thoroughly enraged, turned on her to fight her. "Let me in, children," she screamed, but the fourth little pig squealed, "We want to see the sign first!"

It would have gone hard with the old pig then if in her struggles she had not kicked over the jug of buttermilk. As it ran under the door the fifth little pig let the bar down, his mother rolled in away from the wolf's cruel jaws, and all five of the little fellows helped to bar the door—Worcester Post.

"Alice Samee."

To solemnize the ceremony of taking the oath, Chinamen kill a cock. By another process they break a plate. The English habit is to kiss the Bible. The other day a widely traveled Chinaman in a Johannesburg court was asked what form of oath he preferred. He replied: "Alice samee, break-um-platee, kill-um-cockee or smell-um-bookee, Alice samee."

BROKE STRONG MAN'S MIND.

What to Do with Present Too Much for Puzzle Inventor.

Marshal P. Wilder related at a dinner a striking personal experience:

"When I was a boy in Geneva," he said, "I was once taken through a hospital for the insane that was not far from the town."

"Many strange, many terrible things I saw in this hospital, but what affected me most deeply was the sight of a young man of intelligent and refined appearance who sat with his head in his hands mulling over and over and over from morning till night."

"I can't strap it around my waist and it won't go in my pocket. It isn't an automobile horn, because it won't blow. It isn't a lamp, for it won't light. I can't put it on my feet and it will not go over my head. It is neither a fountain pen, a pipe nor a balloonist's barometer. It looks like a golf glove, but it is not a tennis racket. I can't."

"Turning away, I asked the keeper, 'he young man's history.'

"Ah, sir, a sad case," the keeper said. "One year ago that there young man was prosperous and renowned—the finest puzzle inventor and decipherer in the whole durn country. But on Christmas a young woman gave him a present made with her own hands and in trying to determine its name and its use the poor fellow became what you see."

ARE NOW ARTESIAN WELLS.
One Curious Result of the Earthquake at San Francisco.

It has just been discovered that the upheaval of April 18 did funny things to the wells in the courtyard at the rear of the San Francisco mint, says the Chronicle of that city. For years prior to April 18 these had been ordinary, well behaved wells, yielding water plentifully when a steam pump was employed. But now they are spouting artesian wells, from which a steady stream of water flows when no pumping is done. This was discovered when the pump was taken out for repairs, the courtyard being flooded within a short time.

The wells were bored many years ago, and are about 175 feet in depth. There was apparently a subterranean connection between them, for the pumping of water from one lowered the water in the other. Normally the water was within 30 feet of the surface, and that was the condition when the pump was taken out last March. Recently, for the first time since March, the pumps were again removed, when it was discovered that the water flowed freely.

Greek and Roman Artillery.
Greek ordinance—which was adopted by the Romans without any material alteration—was, almost without exceptions, dependent on the hand-how principle, says the Technical World Magazine. On trying to shoot a larger bullet to greater distances, the elastic arms of the bow were necessarily made so strong as to be no longer susceptible of tightening by hand. A tension shaft had therefore to be fitted to the bow, which shaft was tightened with levers or hand-wheels. Finally, as the power of bows altogether failed to insure the efficiency desired, their bending elasticity was replaced by the tensional elasticity of steel, that is, ropes made from animal sinews, woman's hair, or, in an emergency, horsehair.

Infection.
The wife of an army officer at a western post recently had occasion to visit a small neighboring town, to do some shopping at what is called the general store. She was much entertained by the variety and antiquity of the stock of goods, and as she passed out her eyes were attracted by a pile of mottoes, elaborately lettered and ornately framed, the upper one being the scriptural passage: "Walk in love."

As she paused, the clerk, a dapper young man of more affability than advantages, stepped forward with the remark, "These are the latest things in mottoes. This top one is swell to put over a young lady's door—'Walk in love.'"—Lippincott's Magazine.

The Pope and Cardinal Vaughan.
On the occasion of the great Marian congress in Rome, the pope summoned Father Bernard Vaughan to represent the English speaking peoples. The Italians were amazed to find him so un-English, as they thought, in his dramatic style. The story goes (says a writer in the New Oxford weekly paper, "Varsity Life Illustrated") that one day the pope, in the presence of one of his cardinals mimicked the preacher's style, whereupon Rampolla exclaimed: "And he is an Englishman!" "No," replied the pope, "he was born on the top of Mount Vesuvius, and we sent him to England to cool."

Tender-Hearted.
The Bearded Lady (horified)—Engaged to the Ossified Man. My dear child, why in the world did you take such a step?

The Circassian Girl—He said it would break him all up if I refused him and you know I couldn't bear to see the poor fellow go to pieces!

In the Wrong Shop.
"Doctor," said the visitor with the fur-lined collar, "there's something the matter with me."

"Well," responded the doctor, "I know that when I saw you as Hamlet last night, but I can't do anything for you. Curing hams is out of my line."

Man's Sphere.
Says a woman writer: "Man is a plain necessity." We hope the men who strut around, feeling like a luxury, will see this.—Toledo Blade.

We called attention to advertisement in another column of a self-extinguishing fire extinguisher—great invention. The advertisement.

Fire! Fire!! Fire!!!—Delay makes the danger. Until now fires have been met by means too dilatory, too late and too cumbersome. The time lost in sending for an engine and getting it into working order has too often proved a fatal delay. The Extinguisher, a self-acting portable fire engine, is inexpensive and so simple in its construction that the mere turning of a cock puts it into full action—warranted harmless, to life, health and property. Always ready for instant use. So portable that a man carries it without hindrance to active exertions. For manufacturers, workshops, railways, depots, public buildings, hotels and private residences it is indispensable and for steam or sailing vessels it is as vitally necessary as life boats and life preservers. It occupies but little space; contains a chemical liquid (perpetually renewable) and is equally efficacious at any lapse of time. So simple that a boy can charge or manage it. Send for circular.

NOVEL DOUBLE SUICIDE.
Couple Allow Themselves to Be Run Down by Electric Train.

Camden, N. J., Jan. 28.—With arms entwined, an unknown young man and a young woman stood on the tracks of the Pennsylvania Electric railroad over Newton creek early Sunday and calmly waited until an electric train ran them down. Both were killed and their bodies were hurled into the water. The motorman of the train saw the pair, but not until he was close upon them.

The body of the woman, who was about 25 years old, was recovered and brought to the morgue here. The clothing was of fine texture and she was of refined appearance. The only mark that may lead to identification are the letters "W. C." on a gold watch found on the body. The body of the man has not been recovered.

S.S.S. OUR RECORD

40 YEARS OF CURES
The value of S. S. S. as a blood purifier has been thoroughly proven by its forty years of successful service in the treatment of blood and skin diseases of every character. It is the best known and most generally used blood medicine on the market today, because in the forty years of its existence it has not disappointed those who have used it, and as a result of its universal success in curing disease it has made friends EVERYWHERE. It has been on the market for forty years, and its record in that time is one of which we are justly proud—it is a record of forty years of cures. As a remedy for Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Contagious Blood Poison and all diseases arising from an impure or poisoned condition of the blood, S. S. S. has no equal. It goes into the circulation and thoroughly cleanses it of all impurities and makes a complete and lasting cure of these troubles and disorders. It furnishes to weak, polluted blood, rich, health-giving and health-sustaining qualities, and as this pure, fresh stream circulates through the system, all parts of the body are invigorated and made strong and healthy. S. S. S. is the only blood medicine on the market that can claim absolute freedom from minerals in any form. This great medicine is the product of nature's forests and fields, and is made from the healing, cleansing juices and extracts of roots, herbs and barks. It is, therefore, in addition to being a certain cure for blood troubles, an absolutely safe medicine for young or old. It is not an experiment to use S. S. S.; it is a remedy with a record and one that has proven its worth and ability by its forty years of cures. If you need a blood remedy begin the use of S. S. S., and write our physicians and they will send you a book concerning your trouble, and will give you, without charge, any medical advice.

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST

Fair tonight except snow in southern portion, Tuesday probably snow and warmer.

FLOODS AND GALES

The rise in the Ohio this year has occurred about two months ahead of the usual time, owing to the exceptional mildness of the winter. It has also reached levels which at some points have not been attained before for twenty years. A good deal of injury was done in Pittsburgh, but the worst is over in that city. Further down stream the situation is increasingly threatening, and, according to the weather bureau, is likely to be for a day or two longer. Already between 20,000 and 30,000 people have been made temporarily homeless in or near Portsmouth, Cincinnati and Louisville, the operation of railways has been more or less interrupted, factories and warehouses have been invaded by water and property has been damaged to the extent of several million dollars. More sudden and possibly more unprecedented than the deluge along the Ohio was the visitation from which Buffalo suffered on Saturday night and Sunday. Such gales as have just swept the lower lakes are rarely observed in the interior of the country. Indeed, velocities of eighty-five miles an hour are seldom developed anywhere except in the path of a tropical hurricane, which is born at sea and lives only on the ocean.

The remarkable banking up of the waters of Lake Erie by westerly winds produced a correspondingly unusual effect upon the Niagara river. Several islands above the falls—notably those of the Three Sisters group—were completely submerged, and below the falls a scene was presented which has long been without a parallel. It is said that a rise of a single foot at the crest of the cataract is followed by one of seventeen feet for the first two or three miles beyond its base. If such a difference really exists, it is probably accounted for by the narrowness of the gorge and the partial choking of the channel by the sharp turn at the whirlpool. In any case, the turbulent stream must have been well worth going a long way to see.

PRESS COMMENT.

So There! Milwaukee Journal: Senator Bailey is re-elected but not vindicated.

None Worth Mentioning. Chicago Tribune: By the way, do you notice any difference in the taste of the potted chicken?

Gave 'Em Fits. Chicago News: Senator Beveridge at least has let the employers of babies know what he thinks of them.

Sad But Only Too True. Milwaukee News: It is painful to find that there are "reformers" that in the abstract are for high ideas and in the concrete for the highest bidder.

Preferred Cash To Glory. Exchange: It is to be hoped that Chairman Shonts did not resign because he was not given a conspicuous place in the president's Panama pictures.

No Reason For Stopping There. Menasha Record: Now it is a bill to compel the railroads to carry passengers at 1 1/2 cents per mile. Just keep right on reducing and we will be riding free before long.

Bumped Again. Green Bay Gazette: Pulpwood is reported to be exceedingly scarce among the paper mills of the Fox river valley this winter. Here is where the newspapers get bumped again on the price of paper.

Without Jim, They Got Along. Chicago News: While the weather was bitterly cold in France yesterday the people managed to pull through without much suffering because Jim Hill had not busied himself arranging a car shortage for them.

What? A Real Trust? Milwaukee News: No doubt it will be a great surprise to the officials at Madison to learn that at Washington there is a well grounded suspicion that Wisconsin is harboring a predatory lumber combine.

Easy Only Theoretically. Oshkosh Northwestern: It is claimed that Mr. Harriman's wonderful success in securing control of so many railroads has been largely due to his ability to borrow money. Looks easy, to be sure, but just try it.

Unbeautiful But Racy. Milwaukee Journal: A British authority says gloomily that Cleopatra at her best was not beautiful but lively, racy and good company. Very likely. If she had been merely beautiful she wouldn't have made such a big splash in history.

Or Rock At Twice The Amount. Madison Democrat: Do you know that it means when you read that the tobacco crop of Dane county is valued at $3,000,000? It means that for every man, woman and child in the county there is produced $59.22 worth of the weed. The figure really might be made the text of numerous discussions of economics or ethics or metaphysics.

Senate Analyzed. Exchange: The membership of the United States senate includes twenty-two former governors and thirty-four former members of the house of representatives. In other words it is very clear that two-thirds of the senate is made up of men who have won political distinction in open contests before the people before they aspired to the high position of senator.

Gunning For Another Fight. Madison Journal: The paper trust seems to have got its second wind. After its knock-out by the federal authorities, prices fell for newspaper print from $2.55 to $2.25. Recently the old price has been restored, and, since the recent meeting of manufacturers in New York the higher grades of paper have been advanced fully ten per cent. The trust is courting more trouble.

Still, We'll All Read It. Green Bay Gazette: New York now has a chance to revel in all the scandal of the Thaw trial which is now on. This has been looked forward to with considerable interest and from all accounts will come up to expectations.

It is to be regretted, however, that the details of the trial will not be suppressed and only the result given to the public. Publicity in such cases can be neither elevating nor instructive to the general public.

Mere Matter Of More Pay. Exchange: The retirement of Mr. Shonts from the headship of the Panama canal enterprise indicates nothing discouraging in connection with the future of that work. It is merely evidence that the call for the valuable services of Mr. Shonts, which came from the Interborough Metropolitan Railway Company, was so loud that he heard it, and so urgent that he thought best to respond to it. His salary of $50,000 as chairman of the Canal Commission was not to be despised, but he will receive more than three times that much as manager of the New York rapid transit system—and moreover he will be able to live in New York.

Norcross' Distribution Plan. Geo. Grassie in the Evening Wisconsin: Pliny Norcross of Janesville has a scheme to change the system of distributing the blue-book and state maps. At present they are sent out to each member in a lump and the members are expected to give them out to their constituents where they will do the most good—do the members the most good. Mr. Norcross says, to start out in the morning with a bundle of blue-books and half a score of state maps sticking out of each pocket, tramping up one street and down the other peddling them out to constituents. It isn't in harmony with the dignity of a legislator, he says. He would prefer to be authorized to sign requisitions upon the proper state officers and have him send out the plunder to such men whose names are submitted by each member. Then they would go to persons who would use them, he says. And there seems to be a good deal in that.

Varying Potato Crops. England's potato crop averages over six tons an acre. Russia grows barely two tons to the acre, and Italy little over one and three-fourths tons.

FIRST WHITE CHILD BORN IN CHICAGO

Alexander Beaubien Hale and Hearty at Age of Eighty-five—Living in Retirement.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Chicago, Jan. 28.—Alexander Beaubien, famous as having been the first white child born in Chicago, celebrated his eighty-fifth birthday today at his home in Whipple street. Beaubien's father was a French trader who settled in Chicago in 1800. There were five houses in Chicago at that time and State street was an Indian trail. Mr. Beaubien claims that he killed the last bear slain in Chicago. This was in 1835. For many years he was at the Harrison street police station and retired only a few years ago on a pension. In spite of his years Mr. Beaubien is sprightly and in the best of health. Numerous congratulations poured in upon him today.

RIPS THE LID OFF STANDARD OIL CO.

reading matter prepared by agents kept for that purpose and paid for at advertising rates, as ordinary news. The assumption is that this literature furnishes many of the ideas touching the great benefits conferred upon the public by the Standard Oil Co.

"Possession of the pipe lines enables the Standard to absolutely control the price of crude petroleum and the price which its competitors in given localities shall pay. It can raise the price in one locality and obtain its own oil from another, and reverse the process when it desires to do so. Whoever controls the avenues of transportation of the raw material or of the refined product can speedily drive his competitors out of existence, and the production and distribution of petroleum is no exception to the rule."

The pipe line system of the Standard, the report contends, is not a natural, but rather an artificial advantage. It is argued that the reason why long pipe lines competing with these of the Standard have not been provided is found in obstacles in the way of such undertakings, having been opposed by the railroads, whose right of way has generally stood as a Chinese wall against all attempts to extend pipe lines. Ordinarily, it is said, the Standard has not received rebates in recent years, so far as has been discovered, but it has nevertheless enjoyed secret rates possessing all the elements of illegality, and the advantage of such rates over independent shippers have been of very great value to that company. Numerous instances of discrimination in favor of the Standard resulting from the published railway rates were found, says the report.

In discussing the assertion contained in the report that "the ruin of its competitors has been a distinct part of the policy of the Standard Oil Co.," the commission says that one method has been the organization of a perfect system of espionage over the shipments of its competitors, resting in knowledge as to the destination of every car of oil leaving the refinery of an independent. The Standard agent at the destination, says the report, is held responsible if the independent oil is sold.

The report continues: "It does not appear that the railroad companies have directed the furnishing of this information, or that the practice has been sanctioned by superior officials of the road, but it does appear that such information is systematically obtained from railroad employees. The testimony shows that the Standard at one time, if it does not now, devoted a fund to the purpose of obtaining this information. It has frequently happened, when the supply of independent oil in a particular territory was low and shipment was peculiarly necessary, that the shipment has unaccountably gone astray. Information also appears to have been given the United Tank Line, a creature of the Standard, concerning the whereabouts of its cars, while such information was not furnished to other owners of tank cars and some discrimination in tank-car mileage in favor of the tank line is shown for one railroad."

The assertion is made that it is the practice of the Standard; whenever a competitor erects a storage tank, to which the oil is transferred from the tank car, to reduce the price of oil in that locality to such a point as to make the business unprofitable to such a competitor, while prices were maintained in other localities. There was, much complaint, that the railroads allowed the Standard to erect its tanks at convenient points on the railroad right of way and declined to accord this privilege to independent refiners. The commission says it is satisfied that such discrimination has been very generally practiced in the past.

The report shows that "at present every considerable railroad in the United States is buying of the Galena Oil company, one of the Standard companies, most of its lubricating and signal oils, the prices paid for lubricating oil, which is of three grades, being substantially the same to the various roads. The contracts generally contain a guaranty to the road that the cost of lubrication shall not exceed a certain sum per mile or engine mile, and provide for oil inspectors appointed by the oil company to supervise the use of the oil. The Galena Co. is rarely called upon to pay anything under the guaranty, and the prices obtained by the oil company are extravagantly high. Oils of the same grade could be bought in the open market for about one-half the Galena company's prices."

The report severely arraigns the Standard's methods of competition. On this point it says in part: "The Standard has repeatedly, after becoming the owner of a competing company, continued to operate it under the old name, carrying the idea of the public that the company was still independent and competing with the Standard. It has used such purchased or independently organized companies to kill off competitors by such companies reducing prices. The operations of such a company are effective means of destroying competition. The Standard has habitually reduced the price against its competitor in a particular locality, while maintaining its prices at other places. When competition was destroyed it advanced or restored former prices. The Standard has sold different grades of oil at different prices from the same barrel. It has paid employees of independent oil companies for information as to the business of those competitors and has paid employees of industrial companies to secure the adoption of its oil in preference to that of its competitors. It has followed every barrel of independent oil to its destination. Its agents are instructed to secure customers at any sacrifice. It has tampered with the oil inspectors in different states. It has caused the inspection of oil to be singularly defective, and this has been turned to profit by the Standard."

"The commission's only knowledge of the competitive methods of the Standard Oil company is obtained from evidence taken under oath in this investigation. The Standard was given permission to explain or rebut the facts. This evidence, if true, demonstrates that the competitive methods of the company in the past have been unfair and even disreputable. Its motto has been the destruction of competition at any cost, and this policy has been pursued without much reference to decency or conscience, and it is significant that the larger independent refiners sell the greater part of their product in foreign countries. One independent testified that 75 per cent of his product went abroad and said that he could compete with the Standard in Germany, where its methods as followed in this country, would not be tolerated, but that he could not compete with it here."

On the question of remedies the report makes these observations: "More than anything else the pipe line has contributed to the Standard Oil monopoly, and its supremacy must be continued until its rivals enjoy the same transportation facilities. The amended act to regulate commerce makes the existing pipe lines common carriers subject to that act, and the power to prescribe just and reasonable rates, regulations and practices, after complaint and hearing, is conferred upon the commission. But the pipe line tariffs filed with the commission are alleged to be of no actual advantage to the independent operators. The commission can only act upon these schedules after complaint has been made challenging specific rates, regulations or practices. Some complaints are now pending. How far the amended act will prove adequate to the correction of such injustice as now exists in respect to this traffic remains to be seen."

"Since in the past petroleum rates have not always been established to promote, but often to check traffic, and the tariffs are more or less permeated with discriminations in favor of the Standard Oil company, having been built up during a series of years in that view, it may be that this discrimination will never be eliminated by any process of complaint against a specific rate or practice. Judging by the past, discriminations as to this traffic may arise more frequently than those now existing can be routed out by that method. As to no other important traffic is there an approach to the monopoly of the Standard Oil in that of oil. Under these conditions it may become necessary to the uprooting of established wrongs and the prevention of others that the government shall fix in the first instance the rates and regulations for the transportation of this traffic. This method has been adopted by the legislature of one state. It probably will be found necessary to disassociate in the case of oil, as in that of other commodities, the function of transportation from that of production and distribution. What other remedies in addition to those already provided it may be determined in the near future by the results of experience in administering the present law."

WISCONSIN'S RECORD AS TO COWS, MADE

University of Wisconsin College of Agriculture Tests Show Holstein-Friesian Heifer Produced.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 26.—Phenomenal records for the production of milk and butter fat have recently been made by Queen Ormsby, a Holstein-Friesian heifer of Waukesha county, and Yeksa, a Marathon county Guernsey heifer. Tests for the past year which were made by the University of Wisconsin Experiment station officers show that each of these two cows has given several times the yield of butter fat of ordinary cows, and at least twice the amount which progressive American dairymen have adopted as the standard for mature cows in their herds. The announcement of such test results has won Wisconsin dairymen recognition throughout the country for intelligent and progressive methods of breeding and feeding dairy cows.

Queen Ormsby, a Holstein-Friesian heifer, owned by Reddell Bros., of Northlake, Wis., gave the remarkable yield of 13,213.6 pounds of milk and 554.08 pounds of commercial butter. This was an average of 4.42 per cent of butter fat in the milk, an excellent content, as the milk of many Holsteins, especially that of heavy milkers, contains at times less than 3 per cent butter fat. On no test in the year was her percentage less than 4.15. Her highest record for any one month was that of December, when she gave nearly 2,000 pounds of milk, with 66,034 pounds of butter fat, a percentage of 4.37. During the first eight months her milk yield never fell below 1,133 pounds, and the average for that period was 1,291.4 pounds per month. She was but three years and three months old when the tests began, and had just had her first calf. The little heifer comes honestly by her merits, as both her dam and her grand-dam were famous for the high average fat content of their milk. Her dam, Duchess Ormsby 2d's Queen, holds the record for the highest average test for a cow on a sixty-day official test, with 4.09 per cent of butter fat, a production of 129,560 pounds of butter fat in the sixty days. Her grand-dam, Duchess Ormsby, became famous eight years ago for her yield of over 19 pounds of butter fat in seven days, with nearly 6 per cent of fat in the milk soon after calving.

A number of Holstein breeders in Wisconsin have been breeding with the specific point in view of producing large quantities of milk of a high content. It would appear from the records made by Queen Ormsby and other cows that have been tested recently, that it is entirely feasible, by following careful and intelligent methods of feeding and breedings, to combine a large production of milk with a high percentage of fat content.

Highest Record. The highest authenticated record for a year's production of butter fat by a heifer is that of Yeksa, a Guernsey heifer from the same herd in Marathon county as Yeksa, a Guernsey, the famous cow that last year had a semi-official world's record of 1,000 pounds of commercial butter. The tests for Yeksa show a production of 11,275.5 pounds of milk, and an average fat content of 5.66 per cent, or 633.45 pounds, equal to 745 pounds of commercial butter. She was five years six months old at the beginning of the test. That her phenomenal production had no detrimental effect upon her is attested by the fact that she is now safely in calf, is in fine condition, and gained 200

COMPETITIONS FOR AMATEUR THESPIANS

Aspirants of Historic Honors Will Try for Trophy Offered by Earl Grey.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 28.—Dozens of young men and women as yet unknown to fame, but who hope one of these days to see their names in big type on three-sheet posters, filled the Russell theatre today at the opening of the dramatic and musical competitions for the trophy offered by Earl Grey, governor-general of Canada. Arrangements for the competitions have been going forward for several months and universal interest has been aroused in them. The competitions will continue the entire week. The cities represented among the entries are Montreal, Winnipeg, Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton, Regina, Quebec, Victoria, Halifax and St. John's, Newfoundland. For the musical competition, there is only one judge, only; namely, George Whitefield Chadwick, director of the New England Conservatory of Music, Boston. BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Next Inning Club Dance: On account of the many conflicting dates of social entertainments it has been found impractical to hold another Inning Club dance before the latter season. The last two of the series will therefore be given soon after Easter.

Building Committee Met: This forenoon the building committee of the county board, consisting of Supervisors Simon Smith of Beloit, P. M. Green of Milton, and E. Rathem of Janesville, held a meeting and made arrangements for advertising for bids for the construction of the new barn at the county farm and the installation of about $1,500 worth of metal tables, etc., in the register of deeds' office.

Papyrus. The papyrus used by the ancient Egyptians was made from the stems of a peculiar water reed growing in all parts of Egypt. The outside layer of the plant was removed, and beneath this there were found a number of layers of a delicate, pithy membrane. These, being separated, were placed in layers. A second layer was laid at right angles to and above the first and sometimes a third over the second. Heavy pressure was then applied, and the layers were firmly cemented into a fair article of paper. No gum other than what was contained in the plant itself was used in the process. The papyrus was very much stronger than the average paper made by the modern machines. The sheets were commonly made from six to twelve inches square.

Two Monster Beetles. The largest bug known to the old world entomologists is the gigantic Goliath beetle, which is found along the Kongo river in Africa. Goliath is upward of six inches in length from the tip of his nose to the nether end of his hard shelled body and has a pair of gauzy wings folded up under his arms, either of which is as large as a lady's face veil. But Goliath is a pygmy when compared with the elephant beetle of Venezuela, an entomological giant which weighs nearly a pound and which has a wing spread equal to that of a mallard duck. Both of these bugs are rare.

Kissing in Iceland.

When you visit a family in Iceland you must kiss each member according to his age or rank, beginning with the highest and descending to the lowest, not even excepting the servants. On taking leave the order is reversed. You first kiss the servants, then the children and lastly the master and mistress. Both at meeting and parting an affectionate kiss on the mouth without distinction of rank, age or sex is the only mode of salutation known in Iceland.

LEROY FESSENDEN PAID COURT $10

For Taking Insufficient Care of a Herd of 17 Cattle—Humane Society Complained.

Leroy Fessenden of the town of Porter appeared in municipal court this morning to answer to charges preferred by the Humane Society, through Wilson Lane, its president. It was alleged that he has been keeping 17 cattle and some horses in a tobacco shed which offers shelter little better than none at all, and that the animals have insufficient food and water. Mr. Fessenden admitted that the shelter was perhaps not entirely what it ought to be but denied the other two charges. It develops that his barn toppled over some time ago and that the shed, with its high roof and open cracks, offered the only available substitute. With the understanding that he should arrange a proper shelter within the building and take adequate care of his stock, Judge Fife levied a light fine of $5, and costs amounting to $5 more, both of which were paid. It was within the powers of the court to collect a fine of $100 or send the offender to jail for six months, but owing to the fact that this was the first formal complaint the authorities were disposed to be lenient. District Attorney Fisher appeared for the prosecution; Atty. M. P. Richardson, for the defendant; Atty. Wilson Lane, for the Humane Society; and Sheriff Fisher made the arrest. Fessenden is living alone like his heretofore, on his farm, his wife having died several years ago and his children having married and left the old homestead. The farm consists of about 75 acres.

RAILROAD SHANTY DESTROYED BY FIRE

Third Blaze From Overheated Stove Finally Consumed Building at Five Points.

Shortly before seven o'clock this morning fire destroyed the Five Points switch-tender's shanty, and scorched the flagman's shanty nearby and a box car loaded with tobacco. The fire department was summoned by a bell alarm from box 515 and a stream of water was turned on the blaze. To attempt to save the shanty would have been futile so the efforts of the firemen were confined to the box car. It is supposed that an overheated stove was the origin of the blaze, which having been the cause of two former fires in the building. This was the first bell alarm sounded this year.

TWENTY THOUSAND FIRE IN LINE CITY

Emporium Department Store Gutted Sunday Morning—Kaplin & Piser, Proprietors.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Beloit, Wis., Jan. 28.—From an undiscovered origin fire started in the Emporium Department store here yesterday morning and before an alarm was rung in had gained such headway that the fire department's work was vain and the entire stock was nearly destroyed. The loss estimated by the proprietors, Kaplin & Piser, is nearly $20,000 and there is insurance for but $16,500. The building was not greatly damaged and insurance policies amounting to $4,000 will completely cover the loss. Though it was reported about the streets that the fire broke forth in three places, Chief Goss states that such rumors are erroneous and slanderous. He says the fire rang along the cotton hangings on the shelves and communicated to various departments rapidly.

ICE MEN READY TO BEGIN THE HARVEST

Will Probably Start on Wednesday to Pack for Next Summer's Consumption.

"There will be busy times on the river if this weather will continue for just about forty-eight hours more," said a representative ice man this morning. "If the weather will continue until Wednesday we shall begin our harvest and we will want men, for the crop may be cutting and we want to get all we can if the thickness warrants housing. It is thickening at least two inches a night."

From present indications there will not be the shortage in the local ice crop which the soft and open character of the winter up to a week or so ago threatened. The recent cold snap, still continuing, has caused the ice on Rock river to thicken and become solid and clear—the kind of ice which the ice men and customers mutually desire to have.

In anticipation of the conditions now prevailing, the local ice companies have everything in readiness to begin harvesting the crop of "congealed aqua pura" and the work of cutting and storing it in chunks will soon be well under way. Under favorable conditions the ice cutting season here extends over a period of ten or twelve days and sometimes longer. With a continuance of such weather as has prevailed the last twenty-four hours the shortest period will suffice to harvest the crop needed for the local consumption.

DIVORCE GRANTED TO A CHILD-WIFE

Action of Town of Plymouth vs. the St. Paul Ry. Co. Was Taken up This Afternoon.

In circuit court today Judge Grimm granted to Mrs. Emma Yanitz a decree of divorce from John Yanitz and the custody of their child. The plaintiff was married at the age of 15 to the defendant at Rockford on August 10, 1901, the latter being 45 years old. Thereafter they lived for several years in Indianapolis where the complaint alleges Yanitz became addicted to the use of liquor and abused his family. In October, 1905, they came to Rock county where the man deserted her. Mrs. Yanitz is at present living in the town of Turle. The action of the Town of Plymouth vs. the C. M. & St. P. Ry. Co. was taken up this afternoon. Atty. A. A. Jackson and Charles Pierce are the lawyers in this action.

MAKES DENIALS OF HUSBAND'S CHARGES

Former Janesville Woman Now Living in Milwaukee, Files Her Answer.

Fannie E. Milad, a former Janesville resident, called "her majesty," in an action for divorce brought by Frederick A. Milad, in Milwaukee, has filed an answer to the complaint, denying she threatened to brain her husband with a sugar bowl, that she started at him when he returned home from a trip, and that she ordered cigarettes when she dined at a restaurant with her husband and a few of his friends. Mrs. Milad declares she never smoked cigarettes in her life.

She alleges her husband has treated her as a slave, and a servant and considered her as a toy, having no regard for her feelings or sensibilities. He is parsimonious as concerns household expenditures and invests more money than he can afford in mining schemes, she wife alleges. She says she has been sick much of the time, has gone through two operations and has to take care of the furnace and twelve rooms.

The allegation of Mr. Milad that his wife opened a letter containing a $100 check and refused to give him the money is admitted by Mrs. Milad, who avers her husband had permitted her to open his letters, that he had given her and her daughter, Bessie, no money for four months for her clothes, and that she used the $100 because she was in need. The general charge she was in need. The general charge she was in need. The general charge she was in need.

The Value of a Sinking Fund

A sinking fund is a money set aside for payment of debts that mature in the future. Many cities have one. Every man should. You may be free from debt but a rainy day comes to all of us.

JAY COOKE, the great financier of war times, said: "What in the progress of time may intervene to help or hinder human plans is beyond the ken of any man."

There is no better way to invest your sinking fund than to own one of our certificates of deposit. They draw interest from the day the certificate is issued and are payable on demand. They can be easily cashed or transferred by your endorsement wherever you may be, and draw interest at 2 per cent if left four months and 3 per cent if left six months.

THAW ENRAGED BY SUNDAY PAPERS

REFUSES TO SEE REPORTERS OR ATTEND CHAPEL.

PLEASED WITH JURORS

Seven Accepted Men Pass a Quiet Day—Are Taken for Drive in Central Park.

New York, Jan. 28.—Harry K. Thaw, whose trial for the murder of Stanford White will be continued Monday, was in good spirits Sunday until he had read the Sunday newspapers, the contents of which, so far as they indicated that there was dissension among members of his family or counsel, displeased him greatly. A note of inquiry was torn to bits unread and the messenger instructed to say that the prisoner desired neither to see nor hear from newspaper men.

When he arose Sunday morning Thaw was cheerful and reiterated his confidence in an acquittal. To his keepers with whom he chatted, he expressed his satisfaction with the jurors already chosen.

Refused to Attend Chapel. Later when the morning papers had been brought him his mood changed and when the hour for divine worship arrived he, for the first time in several months, declined the usual invitation to attend.

The seven jurors who, under guard of five officers of the court squad, occupy a suite on the third floor of the Broadway Central hotel, passed an uneventful day. Unable to agree upon a church which all might attend, and not being permitted to separate, they compromised by spending the morning hours at the hotel. In the afternoon they were taken for a drive in Central park.

They had their meals together in a private dining room. No mail was received by any of the seven.

Not Allowed to Use Phone.

Two jurors during the day wished to telephone to business associates. These were escorted to a telephone booth where an officer communicated for them. Neither was allowed to talk or listen on the wire.

Sunday papers, from which all reference to the Thaw trial had been clipped, were provided for the jurors. All were in good health and spirits. They treated the restraint placed upon them philosophically, viewing it in the light of a distasteful but necessary civic obligation. They expressed themselves as well pleased with the arrangements made for their comfort.

SHAWNEETOWN HAS A SCARE.

Levee Breaks But Entire Town Turns Out and Repairs It.

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 28.—The Ohio river is falling here and Sunday night stood at 45.7 feet. The Wabash river is again rising rapidly. At one o'clock Sunday morning a break occurred in the south part of the levee at Shawneetown, Ill., and the men stationed in the churches rang all the bells and soon every able-bodied man in the city was at work on the levee and the break was finally stopped.

A telephone message from Shawneetown stated that the levee is holding, but fear is expressed that the great volume of water now coming out of the Wabash river will do serious damage to the big embankment. The levee is heavily patrolled.

Companion of Webster Dies.

Boston, Jan. 28.—Rev. John Marshall Masters, who, previous to his advent into the ministry in 1858, took an active part in state politics, serving as secretary to the Whig party in 1853 and a companion of Daniel Webster on the stump, died at his home in Cambridge Sunday, at the age of 80 years.

Mother and Son Burn to Death.

Portsmouth, O., Jan. 28.—Rachel Pyles, aged 80, a soldier's widow, and her son Jonathan, 38, both deaf, were burned to death in a log cabin at Dixon's Mills, this county. The discovery was made by neighbors who upon awakening Sunday morning saw smoke and upon investigation found the skeletons of the two among the ruins.

PAY TRIBUTE TO ALGER

THIRTY THOUSAND PEOPLE PASS BEFORE SENATOR'S BIER.

Body Lies in State in Detroit City Hall—Arrival of Funeral Party From Washington.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 28.—Nearly 30,000 people paid tribute Sunday afternoon to the memory of Senator R. A. Alger as his body lay in state in the city hall. For three hours and a half a continuous, unbroken double line of men, women and children passed rapidly through the corridor for a last look at the familiar face of the dead senator.

Guarded by company G, Seventh United States Infantry, the body lay on a bier under a beautiful canopy of American flags, surrounded by stately palms. A silk flag was draped over the casket and upon this lay several magnificent wreaths. The long corridor was hung with black draperies from floor to ceiling and lined with tall palms and ferns. Patriotic and moving incidents abounded as the throngs passed before the open casket. Old soldiers who had served in the civil war with Alger saluted as they slowly marched by the body of their old commander with tear-dimmed eyes.

When the last person had passed before the casket the senator's body was carried out to the hearse and taken to his late home on Fort street, escorted by Mayor W. B. Thompson and a committee from the common council.

The special train on which the funeral party came from Washington arrived in the city over the Michigan Central railroad at ten o'clock in the morning. Accompanying Mrs. Alger and the other members of the family on the train were Senators Burrows, Scott and Warren, and all the members of the Michigan congressional delegation excepting Congressmen Darragh, Young and Hamilton. After Mrs. Alger and her family had left the train and gone to their home, eight members of the Spanish War Veterans' association, who had served under the orders of Senator Alger when he was secretary of war, marched out on the platform and took the casket from the funeral car. The congressional escort and a committee from the common council, headed by Mayor W. B. Thompson, formed behind the casket and it was borne to the waiting hearse. Then the escort of the veterans of the G. A. R. and the Spanish war veterans formed in column behind the hearse, and with a military band playing a funeral march, the procession started for the city hall.

Mrs. Alger, it was stated by members of the funeral party, stood the trying journey home very well, and is bearing up wonderfully under the shock of the senator's sudden death. The funeral ceremonies will be held from the senator's home at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon.

BRANDED HER STEP-CHILDREN.

New York Woman Says Strange Mania Possessed Her.

New York, Jan. 28.—Two little tots, Nellie, aged seven years, and Jennie, two years younger, told Magistrate House in the Harlem police court Sunday how their stepmother, Mrs. Kate Gravy, had branded them with a red-hot stove lifter when in play they had made too much noise.

Twice during the recent trial, a woman of intelligence and pleasing appearance, not more than 20 years of age, faintly, when restored the woman admitted that she burned the children, but said that at the time she was possessed by an unaccountable mania. The two girls, she said, had been playing with their dolls until the noise and confusion robbed her of her reason and left a restless impulse to punish the little ones. Seizing the stove lifter she pressed the glowing end upon the back of the right hand of each child, causing scars that the little ones will carry to their graves.

URGES ADDITIONS TO LAW ON SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

RULES FOR NEWSPAPERS

Supplements and Sample Copies—Appointment of Appeals Commission of Three Is Recommended.

Washington, Jan. 28.—The report of the joint postal commission authorized at the last session of congress to investigate and report to that body its conclusions on the operation and effect of the existing law relative to the second-class mail matter and what changes, if any, should be made, was made public Sunday.

The commission makes a number of sweeping recommendations looking to a reform in the postal service, and has drafted a measure embodying such changes as it thinks ought to be made.

New Rules Recommended. Among the most important additions to existing law as regards second-class mail matter embodied in this measure are the following:

A newspaper or other periodical may be in part composed of advertisements which are permanently inserted in, or attached to the same, but such advertisements shall not constitute more than 50 per cent. of the superficial area of any issue of the publication; nor shall any advertisements be printed on card, cloth, or any substance other than paper, nor upon paper of greater weight than the text of such publication.

An issue of a newspaper or other periodical may be composed of parts or sections, but all such parts or sections shall be made of the same size, form and weight of paper, and shall, when taken together, form one complete and identifiable whole. All provisions of law applicable to a newspaper or periodical shall apply equally to each and every section thereof.

As to Supplements. With a regular issue of a newspaper or other periodical the supplement may be inclosed or folded.

Supplements shall not be printed on any other substance than paper, nor, except in the case of maps and plans illustrative of the text, shall they be of different form from the main body of the publication. No supplement shall be composed of or contain advertisements, but the same shall be confined to matter germane to the regular issue and supplied in order to complete matter left incomplete in the main body of the publication.

The proposed law refuses the second-class rate to periodical publications consisting wholly or substantially of fiction.

With each issue of a newspaper or other periodical the publisher may mail at the second-class rate of postage samples of such issue, but not to exceed ten per cent. of the total number of the copies of each issue mailed by him to actual subscribers, as the same appears by a sworn statement of such issue required to be submitted to the postmaster at the office of mailing.

Commission of Appeals

The appointment of a postal appeals commission in the post office department is provided for, to consist of three members, at least one of whom shall be a person who has had actual experience in the conduct of the publishing business, and at least one of whom shall be learned in the law, and a member of ten years' standing of the bar of the highest court of some state or territory of the United States, or the District of Columbia. The commission is to enter upon its duties on the first of next July.

The object of this commission is to allow the proprietor or publisher of any newspaper or periodical publication, the application for the admission of which to the second-class of mail matter has been denied by the postmaster general to appeal to it, and which commission shall hear, consider and determine such appeal with respect as well to matters of fact as matters of law.

Authority is given the postmaster general to require an opinion of the committee regarding questions of law respecting the classification of mail matter and the right to admission to the second-class.

Washington, Jan. 28.—Following a conference at the White House Sunday, it was officially announced that the contract for building the Panama canal would be awarded to William J. Oliver, who, with Anson M. Bangs, was the lowest bidder in the recent competition, provided that within the next ten days he associates himself with at least two independent contractors whose skill and experience, combined with his own, shall cover the field of the work to be performed under the contract.

When informed of the statement, issued by the direction of the president, Mr. Oliver's representatives said:

"There is absolutely no doubt about Mr. Oliver's being able to fulfill the requirements of the canal commission. There are now at least 20 of the most responsible contractors in the United States who have expressed a willingness to join Mr. Oliver in the work of constructing the canal at the figure mentioned in his original bid. Let Us Pay

For a Bottle of New Liquezone, and Give it to You to Try.

There is nothing to buy—not a penny to pay. We will buy the first bottle if you will try it and learn what Liquezone means to you.

Countless people have done that during the past five years. Some were discouraged and hopeless, believing that help was impossible. To many the facts seemed too good to be true. But they let the product itself prove its power. Then they told the results to others, and the others told others, until millions of people, all the world over, have shared in the benefits of this invention.

What Liquezone Is.

Liquezone is a tonic-germicide, the virtues of which are derived solely from oxide gases. No alcohol, no narcotic, nothing but gas enters into it. The process of making requires large apparatus, and consumes 14 days' time. The object is to combine the gases with a liquid as to carry their virtues into the system.

The result is a germicide so certain that we publish with every bottle an offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that Liquezone cannot kill. It destroys them because germs are of vegetable origin. But to the body Liquezone is exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying.

That is its main distinction. Common germicides are poisons when taken internally. They are impossible, for they destroy the tissues as well as the germs. That is why medicine proves so helpless in dealing with germ diseases. Liquezone, on the contrary, acts as a remarkable tonic.

We Paid $100,000.

For the rights to Liquezone, after thousands of tests had been made with it, after its power had been demonstrated for more than two years in the most difficult germ diseases. Conditions which had resisted medicine for years yielded at once to it, and diseases considered incurable were cured.

That was five years ago. Since then millions of people in every part of the world have shared in the benefits of this invention. Nearly every hamlet, every neighborhood, has living examples of its power. Now we ask you to let it do for you what it did for them.

Germ Diseases.

Most of our sicknesses, in late years, been traced to germ attacks. Some germs—as in skin troubles—directly attack the tissues. Some create toxins, causing such troubles as Rheumatism, Blood Poison, Kidney Disease and nerve weakness. Some destroy vital organs, as in Consumption. Some—like the germs of Catarrh—create inflammation, some cause indigestion. In one of these ways, nearly every serious ailment is a germ result.

Such conditions call for a germicide, not for common drugs. Liquezone does what other means cannot accomplish. And it is wrong to cling to old ways when millions of people know a way that is better.

50c Bottle Free.

If you wish to know what Liquezone does please send us this coupon. We will then mail you an order on a local druggist for a full-size bottle, and will pay the druggist ourselves for it. This is our free gift, made to convince you; to let the product itself show you what it can do. In justice to yourself, please accept it to-day; for it places you under no obligations whatever. Liquezone costs 50c and $1.

THE HOUSE OF A THOUSAND CANDLES

Larry had the habit of immaculate dress. He emerged from his East Side lodging house that night clothed properly, and wearing the gentlemanly air of peace and reserve that is so wholly incompatible with his disposition to breed discord and indulge in riot. When we sat down for a leisurely dinner at Sherry's we were not, I modestly maintain, a forbidding pair. We— if I may drag myself into the matter— are both a trifle under the average height, slender, nervous, and just then, trained fine. Our lean, clean-shaven faces were well-browned—mine wearing a fresh coat from my days on the steamer's deck.

Larry had never been in America before, and the scene, had for both of us the charm of a gay and novel spectacle. I have always maintained, in talking to Larry of people and races, that the Americans are the handsomest and best put-up people in the world, and I believe he was persuaded of it that night as we gazed with eyes long unaccustomed to splendor upon the great company assembled in the restaurant. The lights, the music, the variety and richness of the costumes of the women, the many unmistakably foreign faces that gave a cosmopolitan accent to the whole, wrought a welcome spell upon senses inured to hardship in earth's waste and dreary places.

"Now tell me the story," I said. "Have you done murder? Is the offense reasonable?"

"It was a tenants' row in Galway, and I smashed a constable. I smashed him pretty hard, I dare say, from the row they kicked up in the newspapers. I lay low for a couple of weeks, caught a boat at Queenstown, and here I am, waiting for a chance to get back to The Sod without going in irons."

"You were certainly born to be hanged, Larry. You'd better stay in America. There's more room here than anywhere else, and it's not easy to kidnap a man in America and carry him off."

"Possibly not; and yet the situation isn't wholly tranquil," he said, transfixing a bit of pompano with his fork. "Kindly note the florid gentleman at your right—at the table with four—he's next the lady in pink. It may interest you to know that he's the British consul."

"Interesting, but not important. You don't for a moment suppose—"

"That he's looking for me? Not at all. But he undoubtedly has my name on his tablets. The detective that's here following me around is pretty dull. He lost me this morning while I was talking to you in the bank. Later on I had the pleasure of trailing him for an hour or so until he finally brought up at the British consul's office. Thanks; no more of the fish. Let us banish care. I wasn't born to be hanged; and as I am a political offender, I doubt whether I can be deported if they lay hands on me."

He watched the bubbles in his glass dreamily, holding it up in his slim, well-kempt fingers.

"Tell me something of your own immediate present and future," he said.

I made the story of my grandfather Glenarm's legacy as brief as possible, for brevity was a definite law of our intercourse.

"A year, you say, with nothing to do but fold your hands and wait. It doesn't sound awfully attractive to me. I'd rather do without the money."

"But I intend to do some work. I owe it to my grandfather's memory to make good, if there's any good in me."

"The sentiment is worthy of you, Glenarm," he said, mockingly. "What do you see—a ghost?"

I must have started slightly at suddenly spying Arthur Pickering not 20 feet away. A party of half a dozen or more had risen, and Pickering and a girl were detached from the others for a moment.

She was young, quite the youngest in the group about Pickering's table. A certain girlishness of height and outline may have been emphasized by her juxtaposition to Pickering's heavy figure. She was in black, with white showing at throat and wrists—a somber contrast to the other women of the party, who were arrayed with a degree of splendor. She had dropped her fan and Pickering stooped to pick it up. In the second that she waited she turned carelessly toward me, and our eyes met for an instant. Very likely she was Pickering's sister, and I tried to reconstruct his family, which I had known in my youth; but I could not place her. As she walked out before him my eyes followed her—the erect figure, free and graceful, but with a charming dignity and poise, and the gold of her hair glinting under her black toque.

Her eyes, as she turned them full upon me, were the saddest, sweetest eyes I had ever seen, and even in that brilliant, crowded room I felt their spell. They were fixed in my memory indelibly—mournful, dreamy and listless. In my absorption I forgot Larry. "You're taking unfair advantage," he observed quietly. "Friends of yours?"

"The big chap in the lead is my friend Pickering," I answered, and Larry turned his head slightly.

"Yes, I supposed you weren't looking at the women," he observed dryly. "I'm sorry I couldn't see the object of your interest. Bah! these men!"

I laughed carelessly enough, but I was already summoning from my memory the grave face of the girl in black—her mournful eyes, the tint of

"I'd rather be with you than with any other living man, Jack Glenarm, but I can't think of it. I have my own troubles; and, moreover, you've got to stick it out there alone. It's part of the game the old gentleman set up for you, as I understand it. Go ahead, collect your fortune, and then, if I haven't been hanged in the meantime, we'll join forces later. There's no chap anywhere with a pleasant knack at spending money than your old friend L. D."

He grinned, and I smiled ruefully, knowing that we must soon part again, for Larry was one of the few men I had ever called friend, and this meeting had only quickened my old affection for him.

"I suppose," he continued, "you accept as gospel truth what that fellow tells you about the estate. I should be a little wary if I were you. Now, I've been kicking around here for a couple of weeks, dodging the detectives, and incidentally reading the newspapers. Perhaps you don't understand that this estate of John Marshall Glenarm has been talked about a good bit."

"I didn't know it," I said lamely.

"You couldn't know, when you were coming from the Mediterranean on a steamer. But the house out there and the mysterious disappearance of the property have been duly discussed. You're evidently an object of some public interest,"—and he drew from his pocket a newspaper cutting. "Here's a sample item." He read:

"John Glenarm, the grandson of John Marshall Glenarm, the eccentric millionaire who died suddenly in Vermont last summer, arrived on the Maximukewee from Naples yesterday. Under the terms of his grandfather's will, Glenarm is required to reside for a year at a curious house established by John Marshall Glenarm near Lake Annandale, Indiana."

"This provision was made, according to friends of the family, to test young Glenarm's staying qualities, as he has, since his graduation from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology five years ago, distributed a considerable fortune left by his father in contemplating the wonders of the old world. It is reported—"

"That will do! Signs and wonders I have certainly beheld, and if I spent my patrimony I submit that I got my money back."

"I paid my bill and took a hansom for the ferry," Larry with me, chaffing away drolly with his old zest. As the boat drew out into the river a silence fell upon us—the silence that is possible only between old friends. As I looked back at the lights of the city, something beyond the sorrow at parting from a comrade touched me. A sense of foreboding, of coming danger, crept into my heart. But I was going upon the tamest possible excursion; for the first time in my life I was submitting to the direction of another—albeit one who lay in the grave. How like my grandfather it was to be leaving this compulsion upon me! My mood changed suddenly and as the boat bumped at the pier I laughed.

"Bah! these men!" ejaculated Larry. "What men?" I demanded, giving my bags to a porter.

"These men who are in love," he said. "I know the signs—mooning, silence, sudden inexplicable laughter! I hope I'll not be in jail when you're married."

"You'll be in a long time if they hold you for that. Here's my train."

We talked of old times, and of future meetings, during the few minutes that remained.

"You can write me, at my place of rustication," I said, scribbling "Annandale, Wabana county, Indiana," on a card. "Now if you need me at any time I'll come to you wherever you are. You understand that, old man. Good-by."

"Write me, care of my father—he'll have my address, though this last row of mine made him pretty hot."

I passed through the gate and down the long train to my sleeper. Turning with my foot on the step, I waved a farewell to Larry, who stood outside watching me.

In a moment the heavy train was moving slowly out into the night upon its westward journey.

CHAPTER III.

The House of a Thousand Candles. Annandale derives its chief importance from the fact that two railway lines intersect there. The Chicago express passed only for a moment while the porter deposited my things beside me on the platform. Light streamed from the open door of the station; a few idlers paced the platform, staring into the windows of the cars; the village hackman languidly solicited my business. Suddenly out of the shadows came a tall, serious figure of a man clad in a long ulster. As I write, it is with a quickening of the sensation I received on the occasion of my first meeting with Bates. His lank, gloomy figure rises before me now, and I hear his deep melancholy voice, as, touching his hat respectfully, he said:

"Beg pardon, sir; is this Mr. Glenarm? I am Bates from Glenarm House. Mr. Pickering wired me to meet you, sir."

"Yes; to be sure," I said. The hackman was already gathering up my traps, and I gave him my trunk checks.

"How far is it?" I asked, my eyes, resting, a little regretfully, I must confess, on the rear lights of the vanishing train.

"Two miles, sir," Bates replied. "There's no way over but the hack in winter. In summer the steamer comes right into our dock."

The Benighted Heathen. William Jennings Bryan, in an address at Lincoln, said: "Then we came to Madagascar. The Madagascar dealers who give short weight or sell impure articles go to prison for a year. But in more enlightened countries they would go to Palm beach or to Ormond."

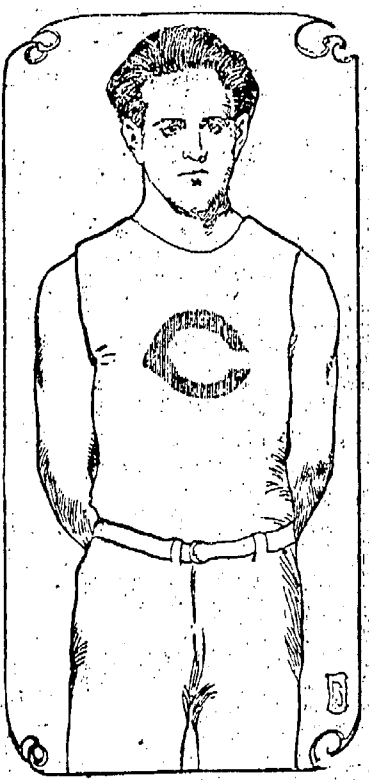

America's Gateway. Ellis Island, in New York bay, is the great gateway for aliens coming to America, and an average of 2,414 of them pass through it every day in the year.

NEWS OF COLLEGE SPORTS.

Track Candidates in Training—Chicago's Able Men—Rowing Talk.

There has been a revival of activity in the training of track and field men at all the universities of late, for large squads have been reported for practice, and no time has been lost in getting down to practical work.

One of the features of track training this year is the attention which is being paid to the freshmen in general, for the eligibility rules which prevent the first year students from taking part in intercollegiate sports make it necessary for the trainers and coaches to look forward and prepare the men for places on the university teams of following years.

At the University of Pennsylvania more than 150 men came out for the squad at the first call for candidates, this being the largest number which has ever appeared for the teams, and as it contains such men as Haskins, Bousack, Taylor, the quarter mile record holder, and Jones, who won the intercollegiate cross country run last fall, the red and blue team is likely to be a strong organization next spring.

Indoor practice is well under way at Princeton, and several squads are to be formed to practice at different hours.

The Chicago varsity track team has several promising men. Barker, a quarter mile, McCoy, a speedy hurdler; Wablin, also a hurdler; Pomeroy, a sprinter; and Madigan, a shot putter, look particularly good at this writing.

The question of including "centiped" races in the intercollegiate regatta at Poughkeepsie has again been brought up by Coach Ellis Ward of Pennsylvania, and he is seconded in advocating the sculling events by Coach Rice of Columbia. This style of rowing is almost sure to have a chance in one of the big regattas before long, but it will hardly be brought to a head this season.

A baseball cage has been set up in the gymnasium at Cornell, and batting and fielding practice will be carried on henceforth under the direction of Captain Brown and other members of last

Syracuse will not enter a junior crew in the annual regatta of the American Rowing association at Philadelphia next May owing to the date, which has been set for a varsity race with Wisconsin at Madison.

Illinois Coaching Question. Judging from remarks dropped by various members of the board of control of the University of Illinois, the system of graduate coaching for the football men will be retained, despite the fiasco of last season. Tuff, the director of athletics, is particularly against a change, for he believes that the alumni can do just as well as an "imported" coach if they have the right material to work upon, material which, he adds, was sadly lacking last fall.

Nebraska to Play Wisconsin. It has been formally announced that the University of Nebraska has concluded negotiations with the University of Wisconsin for a football game to be played in Madison on Oct. 19, 1907. The Wisconsin faculty has sanctioned the game, and the authorities of Nebraska are expected to follow suit at the next faculty meeting.

America's Gateway. Ellis Island, in New York bay, is the great gateway for aliens coming to America, and an average of 2,414 of them pass through it every day in the year.

THE FARMER'S WIFE

Is very careful about her churn. She scalds it thoroughly after using, and gives it a sun bath to sweeten it. She knows that if her churn is sour it will taint the butter that is made in it. The stomach is a churn. In the stomach and digestive and nutritive tracts are performed processes which are almost exactly like the churning of butter. Is it not apparent then that if this stomach-churn is foul it makes foul all which is put into it?

The evil of a foul stomach is not alone the bad taste in the mouth and the foul breath caused by it, but the corruption of the pure current of blood and the dissemination of disease throughout the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes the sour and foul stomach sweet. It does for the stomach what the washing and sun bath do for the churn—absolutely removes every tainting or corrupting element. In this way it cures blotches, pimples, eruptions, scrofulous swellings, sores, or open eating ulcers and all humors or diseases arising from bad blood.

To aid in healing old sores, or ulcers, apply Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve to them while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" to purify and enrich the blood.

Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve is cleansing and pain relieving. It destroys the bad odors arising from suppurating, or running sores, and puts them in the best possible condition for healing.

The "All-Healing Salve" is a superior dressing for all open, running, or suppurating sores, or ulcers. For healing open wounds, cuts and scratches it is unsurpassed.

If your medicine dealer does not have the "All-Healing Salve" in stock mail 50 cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and you will receive it by return post.

In treating all open sores, or ulcers, boils, carbuncles and other swellings, it is important that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery be taken persistently to purify the blood and thereby remove the cause of the trouble. It is in the blood that the great battle of health has to be fought. The ulcer and the sore are simply the scarlet flowers of disease, with roots running down into the blood. These roots must be eradicated or the disease will break out afresh. "Golden Medical Discovery" cleanses the blood of all foul and poisonous accumulations, pushes out the dead and waste matter, and thus purifies the entire life current. Disease in the flesh must die out when it is no longer fed by foul blood. "Golden Medical Discovery" effectively cures disease in the flesh by curing its cause in the blood.

If you have bitter, nasty, foul taste in your mouth, coated tongue, foul breath, are weak and easily tired, feel depressed and despondent, have frequent headaches, dizzy attacks, gnawing or distressing stomach, constipation, or disordered bowels, sour or bitter rising after eating and poor appetite, these symptoms, or any considerable number of them, indicate that you are suffering from biliousness, torpid, or lazy liver, with the usual accompanying indigestion, or dyspepsia and its attendant derangements.

The best remedy known to medical science for the cure of the above symptoms and conditions is attested by the writings of leading teachers and practitioners of all the schools of medical practice have been skillfully and harmoniously combined in Dr. Pierce's

"Golden Medical Discovery," another prominent ingredient of "Favorite Prescription," Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, says:

"It is an important remedy in disorders of the womb. In all catarrhal conditions of the female system, it is a most valuable and general enfeeblement. It is useful."

Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" faithfully represents the above named ingredients and cures the diseases for which they are recommended.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the original Little Liver Pills, first put up by old Dr. Pierce over 40 years ago. Much imitated, but never equaled. Easy to take as candy.

A National Highway From Coast to Coast

How the Cumberland Road and the Santa Fe Trail Are to Be Restored

First Step in the Important Undertaking Is Representative Pearce's Bill Now Before Congress—American Applan Way From Atlantic to Pacific the Ultimate Outcome—Romance and Past Glories that Cling to Old Cumberland Road. Bright Future Predicted For It

THAT the time is fast approaching when the necessity for good roads in America will be a national issue is apparent from the discussion of the subject, which is growing louder each day in all parts of the United States, says the Kansas City Star. Cities are looking carefully to their street paving, counties and states are talking more about their roads, and now the subject of a national highway has reached congress.

The creation of the American Applan way, beginning at Washington on Atlantic tidewater, following the trail of the historic national pike through the passes of the Appalachians and across the Ohio through the great middle west to St. Louis, and then in two great boulevards on to the Pacific, one of which will cross Montana to Puget sound and the other over the Santa Fe trail to San Francisco, will be the magnificent fruition of plans the first tentative steps of which have been taken in the introduction of a bill in congress by Representative George Pearce of old Cumberland trail from the Potomac to the headwaters of the Ohio, to be displaced as increasing commerce and traffic widened the track into a road by the great Conestoga freight wagons and speeding mail coaches of the early days of the century, in turn to vanish when the steam railroad accomplished the supposedly impossible feat of climbing the mountains.

Every mile of the old Cumberland road is historic ground, consecrated by the bleeding feet of heroic nation builders. Over it tolled the young surveyors, Washington, nursing dreams of empire in his prophetic vision. Later over this same route tramped the scarlet-coated British grenadiers, led by the boastful Braddock, whose grave is still green beside the deep trail cut by the ponderous army wagons of his ill-starred expedition. After the colonies had achieved their independence the Braddock road was the pathway over which the veterans of the Revolution plodded painfully to take up even a greater work in the settlement of Ohio, many instances others have been converted into farmhouses. It is expected that with the reconstruction of the old road many of these ancient taverns will be rebuilt, restoring the most picturesque feature of the life of the old turnpike.

The first taverns along the route were built of logs and consisted of only two rooms and a great fireplace, before which the tired travelers slept in their blankets, curled up on the puncheon floors. Their evolution into more pretentious structures came with the increase of traffic, and in the palmy days of the great road they furnished accommodations to suit the most exacting.

Gathered Around Great Fire.

The great fireplace was a distinctive feature of the old taverns. Some of them were capable of holding a wagon load of wood at a time, flooding the great room with light that made candles unnecessary. Around the blaze gathered the merry crowd of travelers, and it was a gala event for the inn when the central figure of the group would be Clay, Jackson, Harrison, Lincoln, Douglas, Cass or some other distinguished personage of the time, whose words would be treasured for years. Dickens, Mrs. Trollope, Prince Maximilian of Wied, Rafinesque, and many other travelers from Europe were guests of the old taverns and have left entertaining accounts of their impressions.

At the side of the old fireplace hung the "flip iron" and the huge poker, and sometimes the latter utensil was seven or eight feet long. Its use was jealously guarded as a prerogative of the tavern landlord. None but the innkeeper could touch the great fire, which was one of the main features of their hospitality. Eccentric old Boss Rush, says Mr. Hurlburt in the "Historic Highways of America," kept his poker at his famous tavern at Smithfield (Big Crossings) under lock and key.

But, while the automobile and the pleasure coach may restore the old taverns to pristine glories, yet the real life of the ancient highway has passed beyond recall. The caravans of great freight wagons and long processions of mail and stagecoaches were picturesque features of the old life that history will not repeat.

But the time that the life of the old highway thrived in its greatest intensity was when a president or a president-elect passed in triumphant procession along its dusty stretches. It was the gala day of the "pike boys." All the taverns and houses along the route were bedecked in the welcome, and cheering crowds from miles around thronged the stopping places and crossroads. The finest horses and the most gorgeous coach procurable were assigned to the task, and the proud procession of "charioters to the president" was given to the pick of the jehus on the line, who ever afterward were marked and noted. Jackson, Van Buren, Monroe, Harrison, Polk and Tyler passed over portions of the old road in dignified presidential pageant, like the triumphal Roman emperors. Of the policy of internal improvements, was a favorite in every hamlet.

Martin Van Buren's Mishap.

The opponents of internal improvements were far from popular in this new country, as Van Buren discovered once when his coach broke down in a spot where the mud was deepest, the axle having been saved almost in two by some waggish Whig.

But the life on the old pike was not without its dangers. In the wild passes of the Appalachians lurked the prototype of the modern road agent, and daring bandits frequently relieved panic-stricken passengers of their valuables in the good old Dick Turpin way. Fatal wrecks sometimes occurred in which coaches were hurled from high cliffs, casting their passengers to death on the rocks below.

Hastily sketched, such was the past of the old national pike, which carried hundreds of thousands of population and millions of wealth into the west and which more than any other thing served to harmonize and strengthen, if not to save, the Union.

Of its future Mr. Hurlburt, an enthusiastic prophet, says: "It will become again the foremost of American highways. Its historic associations will render the route of increasing interest to the thousands who in other days will travel over those portions of the road which long ago became hallowed ground. The shades of death will again be filled with the echoing horn which heralded the arrival of the old time coaches, and the winding ridge will again be crowded with the traffic of a nation. A hundred Cumberland road taverns will be opened and bustling landlords welcome as of yore the travel-stained visitor. Merry parties will again fill those tavern halls, now long silent, with their laughter."

Historic associations are not confined entirely to the eastern end of the proposed national highway. From Kansas City to the Pacific coast the old Santa Fe trail will be the most important and natural route, and where in the world is a thoroughfare with so stirring a history? There is much of historical significance to be preserved on this famous trail, and the need of a government road from coast to coast is ever present in the minds of military commanders. The automobilist will hail with joy Representative Pearce's great project, and he should have the co-operation of every farmer and every class of citizen.

Proposed Boulevard at El Paso, Tex.

Beginning at the city of El Paso, Tex., it is proposed to build a road east to the county line, a distance of 150 miles, with trees in the center of the highway and driveways on each side. The road, it is reported, will be made of macadam.
